Workflows that Connect Data to Journals

A. Journals include Dataverse as a Recommended Repository

B. Authors Contribute Directly to a Journal's Dataverse

C. Seamless Integration btw Journal + Dataverse (e.g., OJS)

Example of Option C: OJS / Dataverse Integration

Journal Dataverse

- ✓ Sloan funded project to integrate PKP's Open Journal Systems (OJS) with the Dataverse software.
- ✓ Pilot with ~ 50 journals.
- ✓ Dataverse plugin is available with latest OJS release.

<http://projects.iq.harvard.edu/ojs-dvn>

In the Backend: Technical Workflow

Client sends:

- ✓ XML file: AtomPub "entry" with Dublin Core Terms (e.g., title, creator, isReferencedBy (article citation), ...)
- ✓ Zip file: All data files associated with that dataset.

Repository sends:

- ✓ XML file: "Deposit Receipt" send data citation from repository to client.

Plus updates from client to server during lifecycle (CRUD):
In review, , reject (delete), publish first version, update new versions.

Generic plugins are used to extend Open Journal Systems in a variety of ways that are not supported by the other plugin categories.

Referral Plugin

The Referral Plugin tracks incoming reback URLs to articles (i.e. when a reader follows an external link to an article), allowing Authors to maintain and potentially publish an automatically-updated list of rebacks to an article.

Super Plugin Testing Happy Hour requires, as a condition for publication, that data supporting the results in the paper should be archived in an appropriate public archive. Super Plugin Testing Happy Hour recommends the Harvard Dataverse, which is free and open to all researchers worldwide to share, cite, reuse and archive research data. Data are important products of the scientific enterprise, and they should be preserved and usable for decades in the future. Authors may elect to have the data publicly available at time of publication. Exceptions may be granted at the discretion of the editor, especially for sensitive information such as human subject data or the location of endangered species. Any exceptions should be documented in a statement in the public article. (Adapted from Joint Data Archiving Policy \(JDAP\)).
